MALAFRONTTE, CAHOW REIGN AT ROSE BOWL

Kirkland, Lou Win Distance Honors

In future years, when some talented typewriter sets out to inscribe the history of the world-famous Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California, alongside the names of Willie Heston, Ernie Nevers, the Four Horsemen, Johnny Mack Brown and Sam "Bam" Cunningham will appear the names of Victor Malafrente, Jo Cahow, the Library Bar, Monika Lou and John Kirkland.

What most observers considered to be the greatest Frisbee flying disc competition ever staged—the World Frisbee Championships at the Rose Bowl—is now history. However, it already has established itself as a classic to which every contestant and spectator will attest.

An invitational event, the WFC brought together the elite of Frisbee competition for a three-day meeting. The first two days were spent in preliminaries and in qualifying for the final rating of World Class Frisbee Master.

Thirty-two persons qualified for that lofty plateau in Frisbee accomplishment.

On Sunday, August 25, the gates of the Rose Bowl were opened to the public, and estimates place the attendance at some 15,000 persons. They were treated to a demonstration of Frisbee throwing and catching the likes of which few persons had ever seen before.

The weather was beautiful, with even famed Southern California smog, which had bothered the contestants the first two days, letting up to enhance the Frisbee performances.

WFC Queen Tatum O'Neal, winner of an academy award for her role in "Paper Moon", tossed out the first Frisbee with coaching from her father, actor Ryan O'Neal.

Frisbee inventor Fred Morrison was on hand and accepted a huge round of applause from the crowd in appreciation for his contribution to the enjoyment of hundreds of millions of persons.

SCHMIDLEIN NEW WORLD JUNIOR FRISBEE CHAMP

Jim Schmidlein, 13, of Waban, Mass., continued a family dynasty in the World Junior Frisbee Championships by winning the title in a runoff against Danny Quinto, 15, of Denver, Colo. The runoff was carried out during the taping of the nationally-syndicated "What's My Line" television show and is being shown nationally.

Schmidlein is the younger brother of 1971 champ Ken Schmidlein and 1972 runner-up Kevin.

He and Quinto earned their spots in the runoff in competition against eight other regional champions in Boston on September 28.

Schmidlein and Quinto won $1,000 and $500 U.S. Savings Bonds respectively, with a $250 bond going to third place finisher Wade Thompson, 13, of Huntington, W. Va.

Other regional champions, each of whom won a $100 savings bond, were Alan Fredrickson, 14, Burbank, Calif.; Marty Melville, 12, Port Colborne, Canada; Mark Purcell, 15, St. Paul, Minn.; Dan Steyer, 15, Tiffin, O.; Tim Sudderth, 14, Marietta, Ga.; Robert Vasquez, 14, Austin, Tex.; and Jon Wright, 14, Pasco, Wash.

More than one million boys and girls through age 15 participated in the local park competition, with winners proceeding to city, state and regional runoffs prior to the World Championships.

This marked the first year that the Canadian champion participated in the event.

ROSE BOWL CROWD thrills to action at World Frisbee Championships. Action on field is Guts Frisbee finale between Library Bar and Berkeley Frisbee Group.

WFC AT ROSE BOWL

Two of the world's finest catching dogs—Ashley Whippet and Bismarck, put on demonstrations which drew oohs and aahs from the crowd, although Ashley was somewhat out of form due to a collision with the larger Bismarck when both ran out onto the field.

There was even a demonstration by three former Hula Hoop champions to add to the festivities.

But mostly it was the Frisbee action which captivated the crowd and drew excited screams of admiration.

The first action was a demonstration of Guts Frisbee by Jo Cahow and Marge Meiswick of Ann Arbor, Mich., opposing Kate May of Berkeley, Calif. and Nina Wilds of New Haven, Conn.

This was followed by the finals in the Men's Guts Frisbee competition, pitting the Library Bar of Houghton, Mich. against the Berkeley (Calif.) Frisbee Group.

Library Bar, which had won every major Guts Frisbee title this year maintained that record with a 21-13 triumph as the Michiganers' powerhouse, Bob Hansen, amazed the crowd with his flame-like thumb shot, estimated to travel at nearly 70 miles per hour.

The Women's Distance competition went to 17-year-old Monika Lou of Berkeley, Calif., who unleashed a toss of 234 feet to defeat Marge Meiswick.

In Men's Distance, John "The Pretender" Kirkland uncorked a prodigious heave of 271 feet to take the title, with John Connelly of Wilmette, Ill. finishing second. Bob May, world record holder for the distance toss, finished third.

This set the stage for the grand finale—the determination of the man and woman who would reign as the World Frisbee Champions.

Competition was close in both the men's and women's events. Jo Cahow won a narrow decision in the women's competition over Nina Wilds, while Victor Malafronte of Berkeley was forced into a playoff before edging John Connelly.

The awards were presented to the contestants by two of the most popular personages in the Frisbee world—Steady Ed and Jumbo Jon.

Steady Ed, holder of International Frisbee Association membership card 001, was founder of that august body. Jumbo Jon, known to students at Michigan Tech in Houghton, Mich. as the proprietor of the best watering hole in town, has been director of the International Frisbee Tournament for several years.

A special treat for the crowd during the WFC was the initial demonstration of the new Frisbee Game, an action-packed contest, which combines aspects of hockey, football, soccer and basketball into a non-stop spectators delight.

Tourney Roundup

Three major Frisbee flying disc tournaments were held this summer prior to the World Frisbee Championships at the Rose Bowl, and one the week after.

The 17th Annual International Frisbee Tournament was staged at Marquette, Mich., July 6-7, and was, as usual, a tremendous success.

In Guts Frisbee, the Liberty Bar of Houghton, Mich., ended the three-year reign of the Highland Avenue Aces of Wilmette, Ill., defeating the Aces in the finals, 23-21 and 21-8.

Bob May of Berkeley, Calif. and Marge Meiswick of Ann Arbor, Mich. won the men's and women's distance competition, respectively, and Bruce Koger of Chicago was the victor in M.T.A. (maximum time aloft).

The Library Bar continued its Guts Frisbee reign by winning the Third Annual Canadian Open Frisbee Championships August 18-19 in Toronto, and Joe Essman of Welleston, O., won the distance event.

And, it was the Library Bar again, winning the Cliff’s Ridge Autumn Guts Frisbee Invitational, September 1, again defeating the Highland Avenue Aces.
