These are historic site surveys, with accompanying photographs and research materials, for Crawford, Dent, Gasconade (southern portion only), Maries, Phelps, and Washington counties in Missouri. Included are houses, churches, schools, bridges, businesses, and other structures.

During the 1980s the Meramec Regional Planning Commission conducted historic site surveys of Crawford, Dent, Gasconade (southern portion only), Maries, Phelps, and Washington counties in Missouri. The surveys were funded by the Missouri Department of Natural Resources, which is the repository for the original survey reports. Assembled here are photocopies of the reports, arranged by county, accompanied by associated photographs and negatives, brief county histories, shelf lists, and materials used to research and write the reports. Also included are administrative files concerning the funding and execution of the survey grants, and general research and background materials on historic preservation and architectural styles.

The surveys were conducted and are filed in county units. Included are houses, commercial buildings, churches, schools, barns, outbuildings, bridges, and other structures of substantial age and/or historical significance. Some of the structures were no longer extant at the time of the survey, and at least one Civil War battlefield was also included. The sites were described on standardized forms, noting such data as geographical location, dates of erection and modification or demolition, building materials, architectural style, and historical significance. Usually at least one contemporary black-and-white photograph and/or negative, and sometimes several, accompany each report. Historic photographs were included when available. The amount of information entered varies greatly from site to site, and from county to county. The reports for Phelps County are particularly detailed.

Registers have been prepared for each county, listing sites by report number, name, geographical location, and the location of its associated photographic negatives. For most counties maps of the county and its municipalities are included with the research materials. For some counties there are extra photographs and negatives, for which no site reports were prepared. There are 175 reports each for Washington and southern Gasconade counties, 180 for Crawford County, 240 for Maries County, 259 for Dent County, and 306 for Phelps County.
