Fran Arden, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, District 9, donated their records to the Western Historical Manuscript Collection-St. Louis at the University of Missouri-St. Louis on November 3, 1982 and May 23, 1983.

Nineteen railroad machinists organized the International Association of Machinists in Atlanta, Georgia in May 1888. On September 10, 1888 the new union sent circulars across the country announcing its founding and urging the formation of other locals. Originally oriented to the railroad craft, locals quickly formed in towns and cities along the southern, western and Midwestern railroad lines in the railroad shops. Locals 41, 85, and 394 were organized in St. Louis in 1888-1889. By 1902 the St. Louis area, with four locals, received a charter as District 9 of the IAM.

District 9 formed and began meeting before it received its charter in 1902. In its early years, membership fluctuated annually (1155 members in 1901, 742 in 1902, 1047 in 1903, and 950 in 1907) with "lack of interest and unemployment' accounting for the declines. Since the trade was well defined, District 9 estimated that 90-98% of machinists were organized from 1900-1910. In 1907 the international held its convention in St. Louis. District 9 developed into a strong, well-administered, and highly independent union. Several strikes occurred annually, with the greatest number coming during World War I. Between 1916-1920, the district dismissed over 200 members for being scabs. F.M. Parmeter, secretary-treasurer, 1912-1927, and assistant business agent until 1934, conducted the districts business and guided it into its position as one of the strongest in the union. In 1921 and 1938 District 9 won appeals against the national policy on dues. (See The Machinists: A New Study in American Trade Unionism by Mark Perleman for more information on the international.)

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The collection is divided into seven series: administrative, membership, grievances and strikes, detectives, politics and union solidarity, national, and artifacts. Most of the records were F.M. Parmeter's files and are prior to 1945. There is very little material on individual unions. Half of the records deal primarily with the practical union business of dues, membership and national series. The grievances, strikes, and detectives files reveal the conflict with businesses over wages and hours, the changes in union demands, the successes and failures of collective bargaining, and the concern with company spies or "stool pigeons."
The politics and union solidarity material indicate the range of labor politics, from radical or communist groups to the traditional Democratic and Republican parties. Topics include: the eight hour day, union organizing, injunctions, jurisdictional disputes, scab labor, strike benefits, company detectives, employment conditions in St. Louis, strikers relief funds, union labels, and the effects of World War I and World War II on unions. (NOTE: Two microfilm rolls, containing volumes 1-4, 5 and 13 are located in box 9.)

SERIES DESCRIPTION

SERIES 1 - ADMINISTRATIVE RECORDS, 1902-1965, Folders 1-19, Volumes 1-13

Minutes of the executive board, committees and regular meetings 1901-1927, in ledgers; constitutions 1946-1965; and bylaws 1914-1935. Financial records include dues, loans, taxes, office costs, wage rates, fines and salaries. Officer resignations and recalls and election of business agent.

SERIES 2 - MEMBERSHIP, 1913-1934, Folders 20-31

Local lodge files, lodge officers, information on individual members, and withdrawal cards. Some information from the local organizing committee and national organizing literature.

SERIES 3 - GRIEVANCES AND STRIKES, 1909-1945, Folders 32-52, Volume 14

Grievances, injunctions, jurisdictional disputes and protests over unfair conditions including union discrimination during World War II under the subversive acts. Strike files document benefits paid to strikers, scab labor, and boycotted businesses.

SERIES 4 - DETECTIVES, 1901-1937, Folders 53-60

Reports and correspondence revealing company detectives and "stool pigeons" hired to report on employees and union activities. Includes cipher code book (1901) and machinists password book (1914).

SERIES 5 - POLITICS AND UNION SOLIDARITY, 1914-1949, Folders 61-69

Circulars and correspondence on a variety of labor concerns; labor day, union labels, local politics, strikers relief funds, and labor defense funds.

SERIES 6 - NATIONAL RECORDS, 1911-1934, Folders 70-73

Official circulars from international headquarters on union policy and one issue of Machinists Monthly Journal, vol. 37, no. 10, October 1925.

SERIES 7 - ARTIFACTS, Folder 74 and 1 Oversize

Convention badges and eight LP records of labor songs and statements by IAM leaders.
