INTRODUCTION

The Prisoner Advocacy and Education Project was a Columbia, Missouri, organization, sponsored by KOPN Radio, which advocated prison reform and prisoner rights and sought to educate the public on prison conditions. The collection includes the records of the Zebra Sunrise radio program, correspondence from inmates, inmate periodicals and literary journals, and subject files on prisons, prisoners, and the criminal justice system. See also Collection No. 3111.

DONOR INFORMATION

The Prisoner Advocacy and Education Project Records were donated to the University of Missouri by James R. Ellinger on 18 August 1982 (Accession No. 4454)

ORGANIZATIONAL SKETCH

The Prisoner Advocacy and Education Project was sponsored by KOPN Radio in Columbia, Missouri, and funded by grants from the Campaign for Human Development, 1979-1981. The goals of the project, staffed for the most part by ex-offenders, were to improve the quality of life for prisoners, to educate the general public on prison conditions, and to advocate institutional reform in the correctional system.

The main vehicle used to carry out the project's goals was a weekly radio program, Zebra Sunrise. Designed to be by, for, and about prisoners, the radio program reached six of the seven state prisons in Missouri. The project also published a newsletter, Zebra and Created Inside: The Journal of Missouri Prisoner Literature and Art.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The records of the Prisoner Advocacy and Education Project contain, in addition to the papers of the project, papers that document the activities of the organization—the radio program, publications, and inmate correspondence. The records are arranged into eight series:

- Prisoner Advocacy and Education Project
- Inmate Correspondence and Legal Papers
- Zebra Sunrise* Radio Program
- Zebra* Newsletter
- Created Inside*
- Inmate Periodicals and Literary Journals
- Subject Files
- Audio Cassettes

A significant portion of the collection is devoted to material collected by the project. Newsletters, magazines, and literary and art journals published by inmates in prisons and jails throughout the country were collected. The project also collected newspapers and magazine articles, brochures, reports, newsletters, and periodicals relating to crime, prisons, and the criminal justice system. Two audio cassettes are included in the collection: an interview with the Rev. Paul Kabat, a peace activist, and a reading for African poems by Kirk Collins.
