BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Oliver Ray Johnson, son of Oliver Henry and Sarah Matilda Minor Johnson, was born November 15, 1887, in Rice County, Kansas. The family moved to Holt County, Missouri, where Johnson spent his youth. He attended the University of Missouri, receiving his Bachelor of Science in Agriculture in 1910 and his Master of Arts in 1912; in 1925-1926, he did graduate work at Cornell under G.F. Warren.

Johnson joined the University of Missouri faculty in 1910; in 1914, he became chairman of the Department of Farm Management (named changed to Department of Rural Life in 1920). In 1926, he became a professor of agricultural economics. He did the first farm management studies ever made in Missouri in 1912-1913. He was the author and co-author of numerous agricultural bulletins, usually dealing with farm management and farm tenancy.

In 1911, Johnson married Ruth Phillips of Kansas City, Missouri. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in August 1917, and received an honorable discharge in May 1919, after which he resumed his position at the University of Missouri. He retired from the University of Missouri faculty in 1958, at which time he received the title professor emeritus.

Johnson was a member of Sigma Xi, American Economic Association, American Farm Economic Association, American Academy of Political and Social Science, Gamma Sigma Delta, and Alpha Zeta Phi. He was involved in both civic and municipal organizations such as the Boy Scouts of America of the Central Missouri area, the First Presbyterian Church Sunday School, the Columbia City Council, and the Columbia Board of Adjustment.
