This collection is available at The State Historical Society of Missouri. If you would like more information, please contact us at shresearch@umsystem.edu.

Introduction
Correspondence, photographs, wills, military records, leases, contracts, and miscellaneous material of the Kirby, Ridgway, Lightholder, and related families, 1860s-1930s. The papers document the lives of family members at a Quaker farming community in New Jersey and their moves westward to Jefferson City and St. Louis, Missouri, and later California.

Box List

Box 1
Introduction to Kirby-Ridgway-Lightholder Family Papers by Roger Ellis Lightholder
Family Documents #1-364 and unnumbered (35 envelopes)
Calculations for projecting eclipses, 1846

Box 2
Genealogy/family trees
Photographs
Tintypes
William Lightholder home in Ireland
Woody and Joe Lightholder and sons (2 envelopes)
Col. Ellwood and Florence Kirby and children, Robert H., Ella, and Anna
Robert H. Kirby
Unidentified
Lightholders
Various locations
Ridgways
Family collage photos
Related families
Miniature portraits (6)
Robert H. Kirby (framed)
Photograph albums (4)

Box 3
Working papers and correspondence (2 folders)
Lightholder genealogy
Unassociated envelopes
Colonial currency
“Lightholder of Ireland and America, Vol. 1-3,” Linda Lightholder Kmiecik
Tombstone by William Hattich
Ridgway-Ridgway Family History, Lelah Ridgway Vought
General Theory of Bridge Construction, Herman Haupt, 1863
The Elements of Natural Philosophy, Sidney A. Norton, 1870
ACCESSION CA6360
KIRBY-RIDGWAY-LIGHTHOLDER FAMILY, PAPERS

Photograph of Ella Kirby
Glass plate negatives (small box)
Col. Ellwood Kirby’s Elgin railroad pocket watch
Joe Lightholder’s WPA meat inspector badge
Braid with tassels worn by Col. Ellwood Kirby during the Civil War

OVERSIZE
#1 Drawing, “The Old Ridgway Manor House,” 1881
#2 Photograph, Site of the “Old Ridgway Manor House,” 1879
#3 Astral projection for eclipse of the sun in 1846, c. 1846
#4 Astral projection for eclipse of the sun in 1869, 1846