Biographical Note:

Nelle Elizabeth Nichols Peters was born on December 11, 1884, in Niagara, North Dakota, to John and Altha Nichols. Little is known regarding her early years.

Sometime between 1900 and 1903, Peters attended the Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa. After graduation she was hired by the architectural firm of Eisentraut, Colby, and Pottenger in Sioux City, Iowa, as a drafts lady. She would spend the next several years with the firm and studying architecture through correspondence courses. In 1909, she was transferred to the firm’s Kansas City, Missouri, location.

Around 1911, having received little work through the Eisentraut, Colby, and Pottenger’s Kansas City office, Peters decided to open her own architectural firm. Later that same year, she met and married William H. Peters, who was a designer for the Kansas City Terminal Railroad. By 1913, Peters had formed a partnership with the Phillips Building Company, which was owned and operated by Charles E. Phillips. Peters designed dozens of apartment buildings for the company between 1913 and the late 1920s. Peters was responsible for the design of the literary apartments located near the Country Club Plaza. The apartments were named after famous authors such as Robert Louis Stevenson, Eugen Field, Mark Twain, Washington Irving, Thomas Carlyle, James Russell Lowell, and Robert Browning.

The 1920s saw the heyday of Peters’ architectural career. She began to specialize in apartment design; apartments constructed around a courtyard became her trademark. During this time, she worked with local architects such as Elmer Boillot and Jesse Lauck. By 1924, she was responsible for the design of some twenty-nine building projects in Kansas City alone, including the Ambassador Hotel, which at the time was the largest apartment-hotel in the city, and the Luzier Cosmetics Building.

The Great Depression of the 1930s and United States’ entry into World War II helped to bring about the end of the building boom. Peters’ architectural career steadily declined and she officially retired from the architectural field in 1967 having designed nearly a thousand buildings in and around the Kansas City metropolitan area as well as Kansas and Oklahoma.

Nelle Peters died on October 7, 1974 at the age of eight-nine and is buried at the Elmwood Cemetery in Kansas City, Missouri. She is remembered as one of Kansas City’s most prolific but least recognized architects.

Arrangement:

The collection has been arranged into the following two series:

Visual Materials
Architectural Drawings
Scope and Content Note:

Visual Materials

This series contains two folders of visual materials pertaining to the architectural career of Nelle Peters. Folder one consists of four postcards of apartment buildings designed by Nelle Peters and Edwin G. Kratz, built in Clinton and Kansas City, Missouri. Folder two consists of two photographs of Nelle Peters and thirteen photographs taken of apartment façade sketches, presumably designed by Peters. All materials within this series are undated.

Architectural Drawings

The architectural drawings constitute the bulk of the collection. There are fourteen sets of architectural drawings dating between 1924 and 1930. These drawings are of apartment buildings in and around the Kansas City metropolitan area; however, there is an architectural drawing of an apartment building located in Jefferson City, Missouri, as well as two apartment buildings located in Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Oklahoma. These drawings have been arranged by their assigned aperture card number and are available to view on microfilm.

Note that there are no original drawings for aperture card number 121.036. The drawings are only available to view on microfilm.
