Historical Note:

Edward L. Stewart was born March 29, 1876, in Platte County, Missouri. Stewart attended Washburn College in Topeka, Kansas, before attending Kansas City Medical College. After graduating in 1903, Stewart began an internship at the German Hospital, now the Research Medical Center, in Kansas City. In 1904, Stewart joined Kansas City Western Dental College as a professor, where he worked for 41 years. Stewart was also an avid writer of poetry, and had a book of his work published before his death titled, “Poems of a Doctor.” Stewart died in 1945, in his home in Kansas City, Missouri.

Arrangement:

The collection has been arranged into a single folder. The materials have been left in original order.

Scope and Content Note:

The collection contains a selection of many of the published and unpublished poems that Stewart wrote throughout his life. Many of the poems can be found in Stewart’s book, “Poems of a Doctor.” The poems vary in topic but often focus on the people and situations Stewart came across in his life as a doctor, and the feelings these situations evoked. Many of the poems have Stewart’s annotations and corrections on them, followed by his final drafts.
